

A 16x16 grayscale plot showing a noisy, pixelated representation of a handwritten digit '4' on a black background. The digit is formed by a collection of white and light gray pixels, with some darker gray pixels scattered around the edges, suggesting noise or a specific reconstruction process. The overall shape is a stylized '4' with a central void.

